Publication requirements

Share your experience

I'm sure that in your educational space, there have been projects, discoveries, and processes that are worth sharing.

Your voice is an essential part of this dialogue!

Many eyes, one goal!

Before sending us your experience, please make sure it has been reviewed by your peers.

This enables us, as an editorial team, to speed up the publication of all FIMEM's voices.

Voices Without Borders

Multiletter is a collective endeavour, so it is essential that we receive texts in all three official languages (Spanish, French and English).

Your support with this task is vital to enable us to publish your work and keep the international dialogue alive.

Grab a piece of paper or your keyboard and tell us about your work with children—from your perspective!
